

CONTENTS

5	Executive summary
7	Chapter 1: The distribution landscape
8	Historical development
9	Platforms
10	Insurance
10	The transmogrification of advice
11	Investment advisers
12	The rise of model portfolios
12	Traditional wealth managers
13	Shrinking accessible market
14	The rise of vertical integration
14	Gatekeepers and influencers
15	Outsourcing and insourcing
16	Implications for fund managers
17	Chapter 2: The size of the pie
19	Sales flows
21	Advisory v discretionary
22	Platform players
25	Future growth: five-year projections
27	Chapter 3: Types of models
27	Model portfolio offerings
28	Investment styles
28	Regulatory issues
30	Tax
31	Contractual obligations
32	Qualifications
33	Competing products
33	Funds of funds
36	Value assessment

39	Chapter 4: Model portfolio players
39	Leading players
47	Leading players by flows
47	Research is power
48	Discretionary disrupters
49	Advice-led model portfolio providers
51	Chapter 5: Advisers and model portfolios
53	No real disruption in the discretionary world
53	Why advisers use model portfolios
56	A model portfolio future
57	Chapter 6: What advisers need from models
58	How much?
59	The 'model' model
63	Chapter 7: How to win and influence advisers
63	The contract
65	Responding to RFPs
67	The beauty parade
69	Chapter 8: Fund manager choices
72	Solution or constituent?
72	Performance
73	Due diligence
73	Ongoing reviews
74	Availability
74	Competing products
77	Chapter 9: What models want from funds
77	Art or science
72	Model portfolio criteria
80	Typical fund selection process
82	Process, philosophy, people
83	Getting on the radar